"Festival of up-and-coming designers - MIM 2013" took place in Minsk Institute of Management

"Festival of up-and-coming designers - MIM 2013" took place on 26th April. Final-year students of secondary specialized schools and senior class students of art and general aesthetic high schools took part in the festival. Professional orientation of the creative youth is the main purpose of the festival. 30 students from different cities of the Republic of Belarus: Minsk, Grodno, Mogilev, Pinsk, Maladzyechna, etc., participated in the festival. The festival was opened by Nikolay V. Susha, rector of Minsk Institute of Management. Addressing the participants, Nikolay Susha told about the institute, peculiarities of education and admission of future designers, and expressed confidence that all of the festival attendees will soon become students of Minsk Institute of Management.

Then all attendees were able to attend a competitive exhibition of creative works of the festival participants in the following nominations: "Fine Arts", "Photography", "Decorative and applied arts".

Then a “get-to-know” excursion around the institute was organized in order to give full and complete information about the infrastructure, potential of the professional and teaching staff as well as innovative educational technologies used in the institute. During the excursion the participants of the festival visited exhibition of graduate creative works made by students of the Department of Design.

In the framework of the festival creative meeting with Chernyshov O.V., PhD in Philosophical sciences, a well-known designer, author of numerous research works and teaching aids on design, took place.

At the end of the creative part of the festival a business lunch was held, during which all participants of the competitive exhibitions were awarded with diplomas of participants and the winners in the nominations were awarded with diplomas of winners of the "Festival of up-and-coming designers - MIM 2013", as well as with prizes from the rector.

Despite the fact that the festival was held for the first time, the participants noted the high level of organization and holding of the event. Organizers of the festival believe that such an event can become a good annual tradition.
